

YEAR TWO MILESTONES

Over 20,000 loads projected for 2013

Revenue run rate exceeding $40 million

Professional staff now numbers over 70

THANKS TO ALL FOR A GREAT FIRST YEAR

Wow, what a wonderful first full year!! I am thankful to God for all things and especially His plan for us here at Syfan Logistics. I also am very thankful to all the folks who work with Syfan Logistics here at our office and all over the country. They are the “ones who get things done.”

I am thankful to our carriers and our shipper clients who helped us complete a very successful 2012. Internally, the backbone of our operations for on-time pick-up and delivery is our team of company drivers who grew by another 15 professionals last year. During 2012, we also qualified 4226 new carriers and entered them into our database.

We developed 106 new shipping clients and have successfully met their shipping needs in a very significant way. We started 2012 with 35 people; we have knocked out a wall and enlarged enough to add 36 people to our staff for a total of 71 trained transportation professionals.

Syfan Logistics’ run rate (annual dollar volume) is projected to be in excess of $40 million in 2013. We expect our load count to be in excess of 20,000 for 2013. Currently, we have 71 professional team members and look forward to expanding our office space again by another 1,600 square feet and adding an additional 15 to 20 new team members during 2013.

Like I said, “Wow!” I want to extend my personal thanks to God above and to all the people who helped make our first full year a blessing and a profitable year. We look forward to continuing to build that special relationship that allows great success for all.

Thanks Again!

Jim Syfan, CEO

FMS — THE NEW WAVE OF THE FUTURE IS HERE AT SYFAN

Syfan Logistics has a tradition of being out in front of the next trend in transportation – especially if it better serves customers. There's no better example than our recent introduction of FMS – or Freight Management Services – which brings huge advantages to both our shipper customers and carrier team.

Lately, the national economy is showing signs of life, but businesses remain wary, continuing to search for ways to cut costs. Recognizing this need, Syfan Logistics has invested in sophisticated McLeod software and training that will help customers trim upwards of 10 percent off their freight costs.

Company President Greg Syfan says most companies with average annual freight costs exceeding $3.5 million can benefit from Syfan's FMS program.

“Our FMS program is a combination of our 40-plus years of transportation knowledge and experience that is enhanced with the sophisticated tools of our McLeod software,” Syfan says. “In times like these when every penny saved is so important, it is a huge plus to provide another way for our customers to trim costs.”

Basically, Syfan's FMS program allows companies to be proactive rather than reactive – while cutting wasted time and money through better efficiency. FMS achieves this efficiency with a number of automated system strategies.

BID PROCUREMENT

Instead of constantly haggling with carriers for the best rate, Syfan helps carriers reduce their own costs – and pass the savings on to our shippers – through the FMS program's bid procurement tool. Utilizing optimization algorithms, the tool allows Syfan to align a company's shipping needs with the lane preferences and capacities of their carriers.

The result is better rates for the shipper and more efficient use of existing lanes for the carrier. It's a win-win for everyone.

MODE OPTIMIZATION

Much of the waste in freight operations comes from mismatched loads – orders that don't fill a whole truckload or conflicting delivery and pick-up schedules. Maybe a shipper needs an LTL carrier for one load but could benefit from intermodal for another. The options are endless.

Syfan's mode optimization tool examines a shipper's entire inventory of freight and delivery needs, then automatically consolidates or matches each shipment with the most efficient delivery methods.

LOAD EXECUTION

Syfan's FMS Load Execution finalizes the whole delivery process by automating the tendering of loads and much of the operational work.

Best of all, customers can keep track of every shipment through exclusive portal windows on the Syfan website (SyfanLogistics.com) that provide 24-hour, real-time GPS updates of load locations and progress.

Now that's service!

New Two-Way Communications Portals Added to Website

Through a partnership with McLeod Software, Syfan Logistics now has exclusive website portals for customers, carriers and drivers to receive real-time information and the highest possible level of transparency in communications through our website (SyfanLogistics.com).

The addition of the portals is part of our continuing tradition and commitment to technology, service and performance.

Syfan customers have real-time access to live GPS status reports for all their shipments through the web-based portals. Through EDI, customers also are able to submit their loads directly into the Syfan database, access and download their bills of lading, and view instant summaries of shipping costs.

In addition, Syfan Logistics provides freight management services which include bidding and procurement; order consolidation and load optimization; and load execution. The service provides greater efficiency and significant cost savings.

The addition of the portals is part of our continuing tradition and commitment to technology, service and performance.

Syfan Dedicated Adds New GPS Technology to Fleet

We have taken the initiative and installed the Rand McNally IntelliRoute GPS systems in our fleet of Syfan Dedicated trucks. We recognize the importance of safety and following current laws – and being ahead of coming changes to federal trucking laws. The new systems provide an E-log to monitor drivers' time behind the wheel – which is a trend that we foresee eventually being mandated by law in the coming years.

The system is a helpful and convenient tool for drivers in providing routing, traffic and construction information as well as weather updates.

DEDICATED DIVISION EXPANDING WITH NEW FACES, MORE EQUIPMENT

Syfan's Dedicated Division continues to expand with the addition of more equipment and drivers – providing customers with even greater control over their freight shipments.

The Syfan fleet includes a wide assortment of refrigerated, flatbed and dry vans to meet virtually every customer need with specially designated drivers handling the same loads and lanes weekly. Rand McNally GPS navigation systems also have been installed on every Syfan truck, allowing customers to easily keep track of loads on their own from a computer.

“Our Dedicated Division focuses on lanes that span virtually everywhere east of the Mississippi,” says Kendra Sosebee of Syfan Dedicated. “It’s our core territory, and we are looking to strengthen and expand our lanes in all directions – from the Southeast to the Midwest and from the Southeast all the way up the East Coast. We have an excellent team and the best equipment to make it happen for our customers.”

A TRADITION OF EXPERIENCE

Kendra is one key example of the depth of experience and expertise behind the Dedicated Division. She has more than 13 years of trucking experience, witnessing the business from the inside out during her tenure with family business Complete Transport in Gainesville. Kendra was instrumental in helping launch Syfan Dedicated over two years ago.

The most recent addition to Syfan Dedicated is an “import” all the way down from the state of Illinois – Dan Ashe. Like Kendra, Dan has family roots in trucking. He literally grew up in the trucking business before moving down south in November 2012 to Georgia-based Syfan Logistics from Shannon, Ill. Dan previously worked with Ashe Transfer, his family-owned carrier business.

“I am very excited to apply my years of experience in trucking to help grow the Syfan Dedicated team,” Dan says. “We are well-positioned and looking to add even more equipment and drivers this year.”

Syfan Family Contributes to Hospital Neonatal Care

When the Syfan Family and Syfan Logistics recently made a donation to help advance neonatal care at the Northeast Georgia Medical Center in Gainesville, they never imagined that their own family would be one of the first beneficiaries.

On December 19th of last year, Greg and Lynn Syfan were blessed with the birth of their first grandchild -- Brecklynn Elizabeth Allgood -- at the Northeast Georgia Medical Center's Women and Children Pavilion. As you can see from the photo, Brecklynn is a healthy little girl. But she did have to spend a brief time in the hospital's neonatal unit before coming home.

The Level III Neonatal Intensive Care Unit at the Northeast Georgia Medical Center is an advanced special unit that allows the comprehensive care of ill or premature newborn infants. It is a great asset for our community in Gainesville and the surrounding region.
